General and Poet

In the early days of its existence the Spartans, being badly in need of a general, sent to Athens for one. The Athenians, not wishing to give them too good a one, sent them a gouty schoolmaster, Tyrtaeus, as being the most unlikely person on earth for the task. But Tyrtaeus was a poet and the gouty, whilst took a martial turn, he so animated the new countrymen that he turned out a good general after all.

FATHER DARLEAF'S COLUMN

by c. h. r.

We are glad to report that the Appomattox production of cotton is above par! Early in the season, Joe Eddy and his wife planted a row of cotton in the garden of their home in Hillcrest. And now the crop is ready for harvest. If any of you have never seen cotton growing, we've got some of it this week, and we gave the seed to Aunt Sarah Jane. Aunt Sarah says she used to raise cotton and wants to see if she can raise some another year.

We have seen several samples of work done in the shop or professor Hill's boys at the Appomattox high school, and wish to give our approval to the fine work they do. Learn to do doing is a good slogan.

Congratulations are also in order for Ronald Paulette who received the most coveted distinction at the national F. F. A. conference this week in Kansas City.

Up at the bowling alley last night they were having a tournament, and rolling his own with the younger bowlers was none other than Mr. W. Moses. He not only gets a good score (better than mine) but enjoys the game.

There has been an unnoticed change in recent years. That is the fact that it is no longer necessary for the delegate to a convention, conference or meeting to make a formal public "report" when he or she returns home. These reports have ever amounted to much anyway! And with the modern newspaper completely reporting what goes on at important meetings, many a delegate has to read the paper to know what happened, and many times the back home know more of what went on, through the papers, than the delegate he attended. So we are glad of this change. We have had lots of "reports" in our day, seldom one worth the railroad fare of the delegate!

The magic of the printed word, and the magic of the spoken word, the newspaper and the radio! Recently a northern school's students made a test of public opinion, and in that nine-five per cents of the public objected to radio advertising about the same percent: not only read but appreciated advertising messages in newspapers! Which bears out what the writer has always conceived to be a comparison between the two as advertising medium. Maybe I have an odd radio but frequently all I can hear on it are a flock of Spanish-speaking stations and only once in a while on Sunday nights can get my favorite Charlie McCarthy. The survey mentioned above showed that the average newspaper reader spent over half-an-hour reading its pages.

Many newspapers are now going on their subscription and advertising rates, due to steadily mounting costs of production. Perhaps you have gotten such notices from some of the papers to which you subscribe. We do not want to go up on the old county paper, and to make such a step unnecessary, we urge, and even beg, our dear readers to send us their subscription money at once when due. We do not know what is going to happen to the price of newsprint but are safe in guessing it will advance. The paper house has already written us to ignore prices in its catalog and that they cannot guarantee shipment. We'd like the financial aid of our subscribers so we could stock up on newsprint for future needs before further advances.

Send us your job printing!

Getting Ready For Highway Radio System

(By VPA)

Coordination of Virginia's law enforcement syste m will reach a peak early next year with the operation of a modern communications system by the Division of Motor Vehicles that will roll up the borders of the Old Dominion and bring them within yelling distance. First of the radio stations will be operated by the beginning of the year and the entire system of radio and telytype will be in use by March 1.

"Within a few minutes after we get the signal, we'll be able to block every road leading out of Virginia," explained Major Roy P. Bishop, Director of State Police and Safety.

"The system, which will open Virginia to industry and close it to crime, not only will offer protection against law-breakers but will enable aid to be given in case of major disasters such as the hurricane that struck along the coast six years ago, and to handle more easily traffic at big celebrations and maneuvers."

Crews now are at work on stations at Richmond, Culpeper and Appomattox, which are expected to cover the entire area east of the Blue Ridge mountains, from Roanoke to Fredericksburg, except for the Norfolk area, where a small sub-station will be established. Presents plans call for additional stations in Rockbridge, Wythe and Wise counties. The teletype stations, the points to which alarms first will come and be teletyped to headquarters, will be set up in major cities and possibly in a number of sheriff's offices in the counties. The system requires additional officers to operate and as a consequence 100 new men on the police force and 12 additional on the Bureau of Investigation have been requested to supplement the 150 officers now employed.

Lynchburg Stadium Dedication Planned

Lynchburg Plans Dedication of New Football Stadium Oct. 28th

Lynchburg, Oct. 18.- With Governor James H. Price, Senators Carter Glass and Harry Flood Byrd and a number of other dignataries invited to be present, Lynchburg's new $200,000 stadium, one of the most beautiful in this section of the country, will be dedicated on October 28, when football teams from the V.P.I. and Washington and Lee meet here at 2:30 P. M.

All the color and pageantry of collegiate football at its best will be displayed on this dedication day. The Corps of V.P.I. will be present, along with bands from the two schools and a large part of the W. and L. student body.

Good football will also be on the program for both the Generals and the Techs have teams that promise much. From V.P.I. reports indicate the Goobers would like a state championship, while at W. and L. a new day is dawning in football and better results are already showing.

The stadium itself furnishes a picturesque setting for the new carnival-like atmosphere which attends college football games. Situated in the Fort Hill section of Lynchburg, the Blue Ridge mountains lend a beautiful background. It may be reached from any direction, except north, without passing through down town Lynchburg. Although but two miles from the central part of the city, parking space is ample.

One of the nation's first "streamlined" stadia, the structure will seat slightly over 15,000 people. Built in oval shape, tapering gradually from at the ends, each spectator has an unobstructed view of any play upon the field.

Lynchburg is taking the dedication of its stadium as a civic matter and extends a cordial invitation to each and every person who attends the game to be a guest of the city as well. The structure was built with the help of the W.P.A., under the supervision of one of the nation's leading stadium engineers.

Brisk Business Reported in Old Dominion

Richmond, Oct. 18.- (By VPA)- Virginia's business takes on an autumn air— one of briskness— as fall activity gets under way. Reports offered last week, and opinions gleaned from leading business men of the Old Dominion had an optimistic trend.

One indication that employment in the state is on a decided increase is the report of state treasurer, Edwin B. Jones, which shows that in recent months there has been a great decrease in number of unemployment compensation checks issued to Virginians. For the 12 months of the last fiscal year approximately 70,000 UCC checks a month were issued by the treasurer's office. During the three months which followed the end of the fiscal year June 30, a total of 47,000 checks a month were issued.

Another healthy sign of economic progress in the state is seen in the report that cigarette manufacturing in Virginia has increased 912 per cent during the past 18 years and now accounts for 31.2 per cent of the industry's entire output in the United States. Virginia and North Carolina now account for more than 83 per cent of the national output, with Kentucky the third largest producing state. New York, second in production in 1920, now has a negligible output. A total of 170 billion cigarettes were manufactured in the United States two years ago, 83 billions coming from North Carolina, 53 from Virginia and 13 from Kentucky.

A poll of well known business men in the state last week brought this general thought:

That business is improving in the Old Dominion, not necessarily due to the war but because of the general prosperity of the people; and when generally cooler weather sets in there will be a further increase in buying.

Minister Fined $50 For Poisoning Dogs

Circuit Court Judge Robert F. Hutcheson convicted Rev. Joel J. Allen Thursday of last week on charges of dog poisoning and imposed a fine of $50 and costs, the identical penalty from which the minister appealed in trial justice court.

The Commonwealth sent 49 witnesses to the stand in support of its contention the minister set out poison to kill dogs which came upon his property. Mr. Allen, who was on the stand nearly an hour, denied that he put out poison although he admitted having killed a few curs which he said prowled around his home. Only three other defense witnesses were called, two of whom testified that the defendant had treated their dogs after he had found them on his property.

Appomattox Football Team Defeated Midway Yesterday Afternoon by 18 to 6 Score

Yesterday afternoon the Appomattox high school football eleven played the Midway high school on the home field and won the game by a score of 18 to 6.

It was a hard-fought game from start to finish but Midway proved no match for the up-and-coming local team.

Appomattox scored early in the first period when Harold Cawthorn took the ball on a reverse and scouted around left end 55 yards to go over for a touchdown to put Appomattox in the lead, 6 to 0.

The half ended with the score remaining the same, but this wasn't enough for Appomattox. In the third period after a long drive down the field, Cawthorn took the ball on another reverse and went over for the second touchdown, making the score 12 to 0.

However, Midway hadn't given up yet and in the final period of the game a long pass fetched them a touchdown. Ibbs Cabell intercepted a flat pass and raced down the field for another Appomattox touchdown, and the game ended with Appomattox 18 and Midway 6.

Starting line-up for Appomattox:

L. E. G. Cabell
L. T. Moore
L. G. Wallace
C. Ligon
R. G. Ferrell
R. T. Guill
R. E. W. Cabell
J. B. Turman (Capt.)
H. B. Christian
H. B. Bryant
F. B. Cawthorne.

Last Friday, Appomattox played the heavy Fluvanna high school team here and lost 2 to 0. Fluvanna scored a final period safety.

Child Injured Here Yesterday by Bus

A most unfortunate accident occurred yesterday on the local high school grounds, when young Billy Bobbitt, son of Mrs. Agnes Bobbitt, was injured by a school bus. According to reports, the driver of the bus had unloaded his passengers and gone into the school, when one of the school boys took behind the wheel. The bus backed into the small boy and knocked him down, the rear wheels jamming several times against his body. He was rushed to the Baptist hospital. We understand that X-rays revealed that no bones were broken but that he may have received internal injuries. Mrs. Bobbitt is critically ill at her home here, and we extend the hope that both the child and the mother may recover.

Another unfortunate accident occurred on the school ground last Friday afternoon. During the football game between Appomattox and Fluvanna, on one of the plays, the opposing teams rushed the ball carrier off the sidelines into the crowd of spectators watching the game, and the impact knocked down the Rev. R. E. Redding, who is an enthusiastic supporter of athletics at the local school. Rev. Redding's leg was hurt in the fall and he has since been confined to his home. We wish for him a speedy recovery.
